The International Journal of Transitional Justice

Call for Papers: Race, Racism, and Transitional Justice

The International Journal of Transitional Justice is seeking high-quality papers for their 2024 Special Issue that aims to consider transitional justice within a broader and renewed demand for racial justice and reckoning. Submission deadline: June 1, 2023.

Some of the lines of the investigation:

1. How have diverse experiences of race and racialization in the Global North and South, at the local, national, and transnational levels, in the past and in the present, shaped the contexts in which transitional justice has been deemed the appropriate response?
2. How in practice have countries responded to racial injustice utilizing transitional justice methodologies and what can we learn from these responses?
3. Does transitional justice provide the appropriate tools to address racial injustice that is simultaneous of the past and present?
4. How do recent demands for reckoning with systemic and historic racial injustice implicate transitional justice's own valorization of liberal democracy as the goal of successful transitions?
5. Can transitional justice respond to social movement demands and visions for racial justice and the remaking or abolition of unjust societal arrangements, including material redistribution of wealth secured through colonial theft and mass violence?
6. What does racial justice require of transitional justice in terms of affirmative action, reparations, land redistribution, and transformation more generally?

International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health (IJERPH)

Call for Papers: Race, Racism, and Transitional Justice

This Special Issue of the International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health (IJERPH) brings together new interdisciplinary analyses of the impacts of substance use, stigma and social harm on health and social inequalities during a time of global upheaval. This arises partly out of the WHO's agenda for social justice in which they advocate that everyone should have the same opportunities to lead a healthy life. However, we are witnessing a worrying escalation in drug-related deaths in the UK and globally.

Some of the lines of the investigation:

- 1.-How and why is stigma weaponised against people who use drugs?
- 2.-What social and health harms arise from stigma connected to drug use? We are particularly interested in a focus on mental health.
- 3.-How is stigma variously experienced by PWUD from within and across different stages of the criminal justice system, social care, and public health services?
- 4.-How is stigma identified, negotiated, resisted, or refused by people who use drugs at different stages of the life course and across different intersections of identity?
- 5.-How does the stigmatisation of people who use drugs impact on a person's sense of inclusion in society?
- 6.-Does stigma harm people who use drugs equally, or is this unevenly experienced? How can we imagine criminal justice systems and public health differently so that they operate to reduce social harm experienced by PWUD?

Deadline: Manuscript submissions accepted until Nov 2023

GLOBAL DIALOGUE

3 issues a year in multiple languages

OPEN ACCESS

< · Arabic · Bengali · Chinese (simplified) >

Global Dialogue is the digital magazine of ISA. The first volume came out in 2010 as a newsletter. Global Dialogue now appears 3 times a year in multiple languages. It is open access and available to all. It is a lively forum for conducting debates and interviews within our discipline. It contains clashing views, visions and accounts from different corners of the globe, analysis of pressing issues of our time, discussions on theoretical approaches, and interviews with sociologists about the perspectives for our discipline. It offers a sociological lens on current world events, underlining our continuing relevance to public debates. The global community of ISA is welcome to contribute with articles and take part in this vivid exchange. Global Dialogue is made possible by the extraordinary energies and dedication of editorial teams around the world and by the contributions of our members.

DROITS ET LIBERTÉS FONDAMENTAUX EN PRISON : DE LA LOI PÉNITENTIAIRE AU CODE PÉNITENTIAIRE

Avec l'avènement du code pénitentiaire, issu d'une ordonnance et d'un décret du 30 mars 2022, le droit pénitentiaire est consacré comme une branche à part entière de la matière pénale. Ce code nouveau rassemble et organise les dispositions relatives au service public pénitentiaire, qui figuraient dans la loi du 27 juin 1987 et celles relatives aux droits et obligations des personnes sous-main de justice, posées par la loi du 24 novembre 2009, dite loi pénitentiaire, loi qui a constitué un pas important dans la reconnaissance de droits fondamentaux au profit des personnes incarcérées. Il inclut aussi la réforme du travail en prison issue de la loi du 22 décembre 2021 pour la confiance dans l'institution judiciaire. Attendu par les praticiens, ce nouveau code offre l'occasion de se pencher sur l'évolution des droits et libertés fondamentaux en prison depuis la loi de 2009. Sont-ils confrontés, renforcés ou amoindris, notamment au regard de considérations de sécurité ou budgétaires ? Telle sera la question essentielle du colloque, qui, centré sur certains de ces droits, sera discutée tant par des enseignants chercheurs que par des professionnels du droit pénitentiaire.
