I.S.A. INTERNATIONAL SOCIOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION

A group of sociologists from various countries, having met in Oslo September 1949 under the auspices of UNESCO being convinced of the desirability and necessity of improving relations between sociologists of various countries, established the I.S.A. (Preamble of Statutes 1949 - 1970). The council of the I.S.A., having met in regular quadriennial session at Varna, September 1970, and having given due consideration to the many changes that have occurred in the Association, as well as in the broader world community of sociologists, adopted amendments to the Statutes originally agreed in Oslo. (Preamble of Statutes 1970). The International Sociological Association is an organization for purely scientific purpose. (Statutes I). The object of the association is to advance sociological knowledge throughout the world. To this end the Association shall undertake measures:

- (a) To secure and to develop personal contacts between sociologists throughout the world.
- (b) To encourage the international dissemination and exchange of information on significant developments in sociological knowledge.
- (c) To facilitate and promote international sociological research. (Statutes II).

1. The new structure of the Association

The International Sociological Association introduced a series of radical changes in its constitutional structure at the Seventh World Congress held in Varna in Bulgaria from 13th to 19th of September 1970.

Calls for thoroughgoing changes in the statutes were repeatedly heard at the Sixth Congress held in Evian in France in September 1966. The complaints against the structure laid down in the original statutes adopted at the Constituent Congress in Oslo in 1949 centred on three themes: First the membership structure: the old statutes allowed individual membership in exceptional cases only and this set limits both to the finances of the Association and to the range of its efforts of communication; Secondly the procedures of nominations and elections: these were not open enough and made it too easy to perpetuate an oligarchy of «insiders»;

Thirdly the status of the Research Committees: these had mushroomed since 1959 and established themselves as indispensable agencies for the organization of activities between World Congresses, yet had not been recognized in the statutes nor given any representation on the Council or on the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee in 1966 decided to set up a Constitutional Committee to look into these complaints and to draft a set of amendments to the statutes. This was composed of Professors Reinhard Bendix, Reuben Hill, René König, Stein Rokkan and Jan Szczepanski. The Committee reported to the President in February 1970 and a set of draft amendments were circulated to all members of the Council well in advance of the Seventh World Congress.

The draft amendments proposed changes of structure on all the three points: they introduced regular individual membership (Art. III 1. and 4, below), they instituted a Nominating Committee and required at least two candidates for each elective office (Art. VI), and they spelled out in considerable detail the status, the internal governance and the representation of the Research Committees (Art. XI).

The Council met in Varna on the 13th of September and again on the 17th to consider the proposed amendments. The provisions for nominations and elections were accepted without dissent. The proposal to introduce individual membership was opposed by only two or three delegates and was accepted without difficulties. The original proposal to ensure regular representation of Research Committees on the Council was rejected by a clear majority but an alternative proposal ensuring representation on the Executive Committee was passed: this alternative called for the establishment of a Research Council of the Association and the election of four representatives of this body as Associate Members of the Executive.

These changes make for major improvements in the operation of the Association. The opening up of individual membership is enormously increasing the range of contacts throughout the world. The establishment of the Research Council and the provision for representation in the Executive strengthen the links between the active leaders within the Association and open up opportunities for a variety of new initiatives. The Association had already recognized 19 Research Committees and, after April 1971, another 10 groups were recognized such status. The Association will increasingly take the form of a federation of such Committees and should benefit significantly from this injection of new initiatives, in the years to come.

3. Meeting of the Executive Committee

The Executive Committee met in Milano on April 15th - 18th, 1971. The meeting was attended also by prof. Jean Meyriat, Editor in chief of Current Sociology, by prof. Anatoli Glinkine, of the Social Sciences Department of UNESCO, by prof. Jay Demerath, Executive Officer of A.S.A. and prof. Ph. H. Momdzan, I.S.A. Council Member from the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences, as observers.

The Executive Committee discussed several problems among which the most crucial where:

- Organization of the Executive Committee
- New dues structure
- Acceptance of new Research Committees and reorganization of the established ones
- Location of VIIIth World Congress, in 1974

a) Organization of the Executive Committee

Following a proposal by the President, the Executive Committee's work was broken down and assigned to five Standing Committees:

The Task Force is a provisional panel established until a formal Program Committee for the VIIIth World Congress is appointed. The group will deal with problems concerning the next World Congress.

b) Membership dues.

The Executive Committee acted on the basis of the decisions taken by the Council and fixed the new dues structure as follows:

INDIVIDUAL MEMBERS

The basic due for individual members was established at $ 5.00, and a reduced due of $ 3.00 for students was introduced. In addition the Executive Committee established a special reduced subscription price of $ 5.00 (instead of $ 9.00) for Current Sociology starting with volume XVIII, currently in print. The special issue of Current Sociology containing the report by John Moge on Marriage and Family Behaviour (Vol. XVII of the journal) will be offered as a bonus to new members at the special price of $ 4.00 (instead of $ 9.00). Package prices have also been established.

The new dues structure is as follows:

Regular member	$ 5.00
Student	$ 3.00
Current Sociology (yearly from vol. XVIII)	$ 5.00
Moge report (vol. XVII)	$ 4.00

Packages:

Membership + Current Sociology + Moge Report	$ 12.00
Student membership + Current Sociology + Moge Report	$ 10.00

Fees can be paid in dollars to the I.S.A. Members from soft currency countries are allowed to pay in International Reply Coupons (I.R.C.) which can be acquired at the nearest post office, or in UNESCO Coupons, sold by National Unesco Commissions. Special arrangements can be made with group membership through national associations but only for the membership fee. Subscriptions must be paid in convertible currency or in I.R.C. or UNESCO Coupons.

I.S.A. members are entitled to:

- a membership card.
- The Sexennial Report to be published in 1971 and thereafter the Annual Report.
- The I.S.A. Newsletter to be published periodically.
- Current Sociology at the reduced rate of $ 5.00.
- The Moge Report on Family Behavior at the reduced rate of $ 4.00.
- Reduction of 20% on all I.S.A. publications.
- Special rate for the World Congress.

According to the statutes (Article III, 1, D) those eligible to become members of the I.S.A. are «Individual scholars active in sociological teaching, research or related services». Eligibility will be checked by the Secretariat on the basis of an application form. In dubious cases the decision will be taken by the Executive Committee.

MEMBERSHIP IN RESEARCH COMMITTEES

Individual members can become member of no more than two Research Committees. The basic fee for each Research Committee has been established at $ 2.00; however individual Research Committees are left free to establish higher dues (see list on enclosed application).

Membership in Research Committees is subjected to acceptance by the Research Committee itself. The I.S.A. Secretariat will collect all the application forms and will transmit them to the board of the given R.C. for approval. In case the application is rejected, the applicant may file further applications for other R.C.s. or wait until the following year. In this case the fee will be returned to applicant.

COLLECTIVE MEMBERS

National members in category A will be assigned to four levels of dues with U.S.A. and U.S.S.R. in a special category.

Special Category:

U.S.A.	$ 2,500
U.S.S.R.	$ 750

Normal Categories:

Upper level	$ 300
Middle-upper level	$ 200
Middle-lower level	$ 100
Lower level	$ 50

Associations are assigned to the appropriate level by decision of the Executive Committee, taken on the basis of the wealth of the country and of the numerical strength of the Association.

Fees are to be paid in dollars or in UNESCO Coupons. By special decision of the Executive Committee fees can be paid in local currency.

Members in category B (International Associations) will pay the following dues.

Strong Associations	$ 100
Weak Associations	$ 50
Institutional members in category C are assigned the following dues.
Strong Institutes	$ 50
Weak Institutes	$ 25

By special authorization of the E.C. nothing

For members in category E (Supporting organizations and institutions), the Executive Committee will decide case by case.

Eligibility of collective members will be assessed by the Executive Committee on the basis of applications. Members are entitled to the basic benefits listed above for individual members. In addition they will receive Current Sociology free of charge.

Rights and duties of all categories of members are listed in the Statutes of which a copy will be provided with the membership card and other mailing to new members. Applications for membership are enclosed with the first issue of the I.S.A. Newsletter.

c) Acceptance of new Research Committees and reorganization of the established ones.

NEW RESEARCH COMMITTEES.

Since Varna 23 groups of scholars filed applications to be recognized as Research Committees of the I.S.A. The Executive Committee examined these applications within the framework of a more general discussion on the reorganization of research activities.

The following applications were accepted.

- Sociotechnics
- Sociology of Regional and Urban Development
- Social Ecology
- Sociology of Education
- Ethnic, Race and Minority Relations
- Innovative Process in Social Change
- Aspirations, Needs and Development
- Sociology of Organization
- Sociology of Work
- History of Sociology
- Sociology of International Relations
- Futurology

The following applications were rejected on various grounds: sometimes because of lack of the required signatures, and in other cases because the argument overlapped with other applications or with existing Committees: Social Psychology, European Research Committee on the Methodology of the Social Sciences, Class Analysis as a Methodological Approach, Comparative Analysis of Planning in Different Types of Societies, Sociology of Moral Ideas, CIRCOM - Rural Sociology, International Immigration.

The groups on Sociology of Modernization and of Ethnosociology proved to be applications not separate from others and a decision on the group of Sociology of Peace and Development has been postponed to next Executive Committee meeting.

REORGANIZATION OF ESTABLISHED COMMITTEES

The Executive Committee reviewed the situation of the established Research Committees with the aim of achieving a higher degree of activity from established Research Committees. Within this framework the Executive Committee decided to disconnect the Committee on Stratification and to invite several others to mount significant activities also between congresses. The Executive Committee also decided to disconnect the Committee on Work and Organization which will be substituted by two separate Committees. Following acceptance of new applications and changes in the group of established Committees the situation of I.S.A. Research Committees is as follows:

d) Site of the VIII World Congress.

The Council of the I.S.A. had accepted in Varna an invitation by the Canadian Sociology & Anthropology Association to hold a congress in Canada. No decision was taken at the time, concerning the precise location of the congress. Prof. Hubert Guindon as member of the E.C. and as delegate of the Canadian association was entrusted with the task of assessing the facilities at the two major sites proposed for the Congress, Toronto and Montreal. Following prof. Guindon's report the Executive Committee decided to opt for Toronto.

The VIII World Congress of Sociology will thus be held in Toronto, Canada, on Sept 1st.-6th 1974. These dates will allow participation also of those who attend the annual ASA convention to be held in Montreal on August 26th-29th.

The program for the VIII World Congress will be discussed by the Executive Committee during its next meeting (probably in Spring 1972). A survey is currently being conducted by the Secretariat among members of the I.S.A. to collect suggestions on themes and format. Suggestions by other persons are welcome.
