FACING AN unequal world CHALLENGES FOR A GLOBAL SOCIOLOGY

Facing an Unequal World: Challenges for a Global Sociology

Michael Burawoy, Mau-kuei Chang and Michelle Fei-yu Hsieh, Editors

ISBN 978-986-02-2692-8

These three volumes consist of the papers originally presented at ISA conference of National Sociological Associations, March 23-25, 2009 in Taipei. The 53 papers from 43 countries address obstacles to forging a global community of sociologists, obstacles that include inequalities, dominations and dependencies within as well as between nations. The papers also discuss new directions for sociology that might tackle those obstacles and meet the challenge of a global sociology. The conference papers are arranged into three volumes, divided according to region: Volume I, Latin America and Africa; Volume II, Asia; Volume III, Europe.

A Joint Publication of the Institute of Sociology, Academia Sinica, and the Council of National Associations of the International Sociological Association

Welcome address by the President of the International Sociological Association

I would like to welcome you all to Gothenburg for this Congress of our Association which I have chosen to call "Sociology on the Move".

And we are indeed on the move. Our numbers are increasing all the time and, more importantly, our discipline is no longer characterised by the intellectual hegemony of certain countries in Europe and North America - should one call them 'the West' or 'the North'? Sociology is not only present but thriving throughout the world, it is becoming globalised. Of course, this does not mean that it is neglecting the other levels of analysis that lack a planetary scope. On the contrary, it now deals with them at every level from local to regional and national as well as global.

We are on the move because we are seeking to explore new fields of enquiry. As well as dealing with a wide range of the more classical social preoccupations, we are becoming more concerned with cultural and political ones, approaching new and renewed subjects; all of which is reflected in the programme of this Congress.

And not only are we tackling new issues, we are also addressing the new disciplines of knowledge far more than we used to, both within the social sciences and outside them. It is to underline this fact that I have invited Professor Lee, winner of the Nobel Prize for Chemistry and President of the International Council for Science, to give the opening address.

We are on the move because our paradigms are being transformed and enriched. Our studies range from the very general, which is not necessarily the most global, to the most intimate: individual emotions, passions, subjectivity, the relationship with the body, but also individuals' calculations?.

We are also on the move as regards our situation in the public space: there is a division of opinion between those who believe their role should be restricted to strictly scientific activities and peer debates, those who put themselves forward as experts on life in the City?, and those who aim to exercise a more directly political influence.

The 1970s, 80s and 90s are now well behind us, and there is no longer any reason to speak of crisis or the breakdown of our discipline. It is far more appropriate to talk about its mutation or transformation, although here and there we are facing serious difficulties because some departments and institutes of sociology are closing or are under threat of closure, and because some evaluation processes imposed upon us make nonsense of our contributions or entail contradictions. Intellectually, scientifically, we are in relatively good shape, we have taken to the idea of combining empirical work with theoretical study and we are increasingly involved in moving towards greater generalisation, to be able to register work that deals with necessarily limited issues within a broad theoretical framework.

On behalf of every member of the team who has taken part in the preparations for this Congress, and on my own behalf, I welcome you all to Gothenburg in the certainty that our exchanges of ideas will be productive and rewarding.

Michel Wieviorka, President of the ISA

Bienvenue du Président de l'Association Internationale de Sociologie

Bienvenue à Gothenburg pour ce Congrès de notre association auquel j'ai tenu à donner pour titre: « La sociologie en mouvement ».

Oui, nous sommes en mouvement. Nous sommes de plus en plus nombreux. Et, surtout, l'hégémonie intellectuelle de quelques pays d'Europe et d'Amérique du Nord - faut-il dire de l'Ouest, ou du Nord - n'est plus de mise pour notre discipline : la sociologie est présente, et vivante, partout dans le monde, elle se globalise. Cela ne signifie nullement qu'elle abandonne les autres niveaux d'analyse que celui de la planète, mais, au contraire, qu'elle les articule du local au mondial en passant par le national et le régional.

Nous sommes en mouvement puisque nous sommes capables de nous intéresser à de nouveaux objets, de donner une large place à des préoccupations les plus classiques, et d'abord sociales, mais aussi culturelles et politiques, à affronter des thèmes nouveaux, ou renouvelés, ce dont témoigne très largement le programme de notre Congrès.

Et non seulement nous abordons des questions nouvelles, mais de surcroît, nous nous tournons bien plus qu'hier vers d'autres disciplines du savoir, au sein des sciences sociales, et en dehors. C'est pour marquer cette ouverture que j'ai invité un Prix Nobel de chimie, le professeur Lee, qui est aussi président de l'ICSU, à donner le véritable coup d'envoi de nos travaux.

Nous sommes en mouvement aussi parce que nos paradigmes se transforment, s'enrichissent. Nos travaux vont du plus général, qui n'est pas nécessairement le plus global, à ce qu'il y a de plus intime - les émotions individuelles, les passions, la subjectivité, le rapport au corps, mais aussi les calculs des individus.

Nous sommes en mouvement également s'il s'agit de notre place dans l'espace public : elle se diversifie, entre ceux qui entendent restreindre leur rôle à leurs activités proprement scientifiques, et à leurs débats entre pairs, ceux qui se présentent comme experts dans la vie de la Cité, et ceux qui entendent exercer une influence plus directement politique.

Les années 70, 80 et 80 sont loin derrière nous, et il n'est plus possible de parler de crise ou de décomposition de notre discipline. Il vaut beaucoup mieux parler de mutation ou de transformation, même si ici ou là, de grandes difficultés nous attendent, parce que des départements ou des instituts de sociologie sont fermés, ou menacés de l'être, ou parce que les procédures d'évaluation qui nous sont imposées confinent au ridicule et à la négation de notre apport. Intellectuellement, scientifiquement, nous nous portons plutôt bien, nous avons goûté à l'idée de conjuguer travail empirique et élaboration théorique, nous sommes de plus en plus préoccupés par notre capacité à monter en généralité, à inscrire des travaux portant sur des questions nécessairement limitées dans un cadre théorique élargi.

Au nom de toute l'équipe qui a préparé ce Congrès, et en mon nom personnel, je vous souhaite la bienvenue à Gothenburg, avec la conviction que nos échanges seront fructueux.

Michel Wieviorka, Président de l'ISA

Welcome address by the President of the International Sociological Association

Bienvenida del Presidente de la Asociación Internacional de Sociología

Bienvenidos a Gotemburgo para este Congreso de nuestra Asociación al cual quise poner como título: « La sociología en movimiento ».

Sí, estamos en movimiento. Somos cada vez más numerosos. Y, sobre todo, la hegemonía intelectual de algunos países de Europa y América del Norte ¿habría que decir del Oeste, o del Norte? ya no caracteriza nuestra disciplina: la sociología está presente, y viva, en todo el mundo, se globaliza. Ello no significa en ningún momento que abandona los otros niveles de análisis que no son los del planeta, pero, al contrario, que los articula de lo local a lo global pasando por lo nacional y lo regional.

Estamos en movimiento dado que somos capaces de interesarnos por nuevos objetos, de dar un lugar amplio a unas preocupaciones más clásicas, en primer lugar sociales, pero también culturales y políticas, de afrontar temáticas nuevas, o renovadas, lo cual queda demostrado por el programa de nuestro Congreso.

Y no solamente abordamos nuevas preguntas, sino que además, nos dirigimos mucho más que ayer hacia nuevas disciplinas del saber, dentro de las ciencias sociales, y fuera de ellas. Es por lo que, para remarcar esta apertura, he invitado a un Premio Nobel de química, el profesor Lee, que también es presidente del Consejo Internacional de la Ciencia para dar el verdadero pistoletazo de salida de nuestros trabajos.

Estamos en movimiento también porque nuestros paradigmas se transforman, se enriquecen. Nuestros trabajos van desde lo más general, que no necesariamente es lo más global, a lo que hay de más íntimo B las emociones individuales, las pasiones, la subjetividad, la relación con el cuerpo, pero también los cálculos de los individuos.

Estamos en movimiento igualmente si se trata de nuestro lugar en el espacio público: se diversifica, entre los que pretenden restringir su papel a sus actividades propiamente científicas, y a sus debates entre pares, los que se presentan como expertos en la vida de la Ciudad, y los que pretenden ejercer una influencia más directamente política.

Los años 70, 80 y 90 están lejos detrás de nosotros, y ya no es posible hablar de crisis o de descomposición de nuestra disciplina. Es mucho más adecuado hablar de mutación o de transformación, aunque aquí o ahí, nos esperan grandes dificultades, porque algunos departamentos o institutos de sociología se cierran, o están amenazados de serlo, o porque los procesos de evaluación que se nos imponen encierran nuestras aportaciones en lo ridículo o en la negación. Intelectualmente, científicamente, nos encontramos bastante bien, nos aficionamos a la idea de conjugar el trabajo empírico y la elaboración teórica, estamos cada vez más preocupados por nuestra capacidad de crecer hacia lo general, de inscribir nuestros trabajos que tratan de unas cuestiones necesariamente limitadas en un marco teórico amplio.

En el nombre de todo el equipo que ha preparado este Congreso, y en mi nombre personal, os doy la bienvenida a Gotemburgo, con la convicción de que nuestros intercambios serán fructíferos.

Michel Wieviorka, Presidente de la AIS

Welcome from ISA Vice-President for the Congress Programme

Four years of planning, correspondence, controversial, but always fruitful discussions are over; now others have to evaluate whether the Programme Committee – whose chairman I am – has been able to come up with a congress programme that is intellectually stimulating, up to date with regard to the enormous challenges we face today, and fair in view of the internal diversity of our discipline.

In an unforgettable meeting in Rovaniemi (Finland), where the outside temperature in the winter forced everybody to stay inside, the members of the Programme Committee were able to come to a consensus on which thematic areas should be crucial for the plenary sessions of our world congress. We identified five such main areas. "Violence and War" have – due to certain liberal and progressivist perspectives – often been neglected by sociologists. But when the dreams of a long-lasting peace are gone, new dangers and the difficulties of mobilizing organized opposition to violence have to be addressed. "Sustainability" has proven to be an important normative and analytical reference-point for the study of ecological problems, but in a wider sense: The causes and consequences of climate change, the scandal of hunger in the world, present and future shortages of energy and water – all these problems demand sociological analyses. With sessions on "Worlds of Difference" we draw the attention to the fact that the conventional idea of a coming homogeneous modernity has lost much of its plausibility. We have to ask what the role of long-standing civilizational traditions for "multiple modernities" is and how the ascendancy of Asia challenges fundamental assumptions of Eurocentric or Americanocentric intellectual traditions. "Action and Imagination" signals a completely different type of challenges. New developments in biology and the emergence of the transdisciplinary field of "cultural studies" force us to rethink our basic categories. Sociology also has to respond to fundamental changes in everyday life like the growing importance of images or communication and lived reality in the virtual world. "Religion and Power" is a topic that attracts more and more interest because of a growing scepticism that the secularization thesis can be defended. Religion is no longer seen as a mere remnant of a pre-modern past. This leads to an increased interest in religiously inspired social movements, the dynamics of religious experience and its articulation, and the different ways in which religion has again and again been instrumentalized for political purposes.

Not only because of the fact that our congress takes place in Scandinavia, but for very strong scholarly and political reasons we have also decided to pay great attention to the specificities of the Nordic societies, particularly with regard to the welfare state and the global challenges it faces.

One other challenge has become more and more forceful in the run-up to our congress: the crisis of financial markets, the consequences this crisis has and might have for economic, social, political and cultural processes. In many contexts this will be a major topic of our debates.

The vitality of the international sociological scientific community is not only visible, however, in the contributions to the plenary sessions on the main topics, but most of all in the life of our Research Committees. Their meetings demonstrate the breadth and depth of sociological analysis today.

Let us hope that our congress in the beautiful Swedish city of Gothenburg proves to be an exciting experience for all participants and observers. This would make the efforts of the Programme Committee for which I am speaking a success.

Hans Joas
ISA Vice-President for the Congress Programme

Bienvenue du Vice-président de l'ISA pour le Programme du Congrès

Quatre années de planification, correspondance, discussions polémiques, mais qui furent toujours fructifères, se sont achevées. Ce sont maintenant les autres qui doivent évaluer si le Comité du Programme, dont je suis le président, a été capable de préparer un programme du congrès stimulant intellectuellement, actuel en ce qui concerne les énormes enjeux auxquels nous faisons face de nos jours, et impartial du point de vue de la diversité interne de notre discipline.

Lors de la réunion inoubliable de Rovaniemi (Finlande), où le climat hivernal nous a tous obligé à rester enfermés, les membres du Comité du Programme ont été capables d'arriver à un accord sur les thématiques cruciales pour les sessions plénières de notre Congrès mondial. Nous avons identifié cinq thématiques principales. "Violence et guerre", un thème qui a été souvent oublié par les sociologues, dû à certaines perspectives libérales et progressistes. Le développement durable s'est confirmé comme un point de référence normatif et analytique important pour étudier les problèmes écologiques, mais au sens large: les causes et les conséquences du changement climatique, le scandale de la faim dans le monde, la rareté, présente et future, de l'énergie et de l'eau: tous ces problèmes nécessitent des analyses sociologiques. Avec les sessions sur les "mondes de différences", nous attirons l'attention sur le fait que l'idée conventionnelle d'une modernité croissante homogène, a perdu beaucoup de vraisemblance. Nous devons nous demander quel est le rôle des traditions anciennes des civilisations pour les "modernités multiples" et comment la montée de l'Asie met à l'épreuve les idées fondamentales des traditions intellectuelles eurocentriques et américanocentriques.

"Action et imagination" signale un autre type de défi totalement différent. Les nouvelles découvertes en biologie et l'apparition d'un champ transdisciplinaire des "études culturelles" nous obligent à repenser nos catégories basiques. La sociologie doit aussi répondre aux changements fondamentaux de la vie quotidienne, telles que l'importance croissante de l'image ou la communication et la réalité vécue dans le monde virtuel. "Religion et pouvoir" est un thème qui attire de plus en plus d'intérêt à cause du scepticisme croissant face à la possibilité que la thèse de la sécularisation soit défendue. La religion n'est plus perçue comme un simple vestige du passé pré-moderne. Par conséquent, ce fait implique un intérêt croissant pour les mouvements sociaux inspirés de la religion, pour la dynamique de l'expérience religieuse et son articulation, et pour les différentes façons dont la religion a été une fois de plus instrumentalisée à des fins politiques.

Non seulement du fait que notre congrès ait lieu en Scandinavie mais aussi pour des raisons académiques et politiques de poids, nous avons décidé de porter une attention toute particulière aux singularités des sociétés nordiques, particulièrement en ce qui concerne l'état providence et les enjeux globaux auxquels elles doivent faire face.

Un autre enjeu a pris de plus en plus d'importance au cours de la préparation de notre congrès: la crise des marchés financiers, les conséquences que cette crise a eut et pourra avoir pour les processus économiques, sociaux, politiques et culturels. Dans de nombreux contextes, celui-ci sera le thème principal de nos débats.

La vitalité de la communauté scientifique internationale de sociologues n'est pas seulement visible à travers des contributions aux sessions plénières sur les thèmes principaux sinon, et surtout, dans la vie de nos Comités de Recherche. Leurs sessions font preuve de l'amplitude et la profondeur de l'analyse sociologique actuelle.

Nous espérons que notre Congrès dans la magnifique ville suédoise de Göteborg, soit une expérience passionnante pour tous les participants et les observateurs. Ceci convertira les efforts du Comité du Programme, auquel je représente, en un succès.

Hans Joas
Vice-président de l'ISA pour le Programme du Congrès

Bienvenida del Vice-Presidente de la AIS para el Programa del Congreso

Han terminado cuatro años de planificación, correspondencia, discusiones polémicas, pero siempre fructíferas. Ahora son los demás quienes deben evaluar si el Comité del Programa, del cual yo soy el presidente, ha sido capaz de preparar un programa del congreso intelectualmente estimulante, actual en lo que concierne a los enormes desafíos que afrontamos hoy día, e imparcial desde el punto de vista de la diversidad interna de nuestra disciplina.

En la inolvidable reunión de Rovaniemi (Finlandia), donde el clima invernal nos obligó a todos a permanecer encerrados, los miembros del Comité del Programa fueron capaces de llegar a un consenso sobre las áreas temáticas cruciales para las sesiones plenarias de nuestro Congreso mundial. Identificamos cinco temas principales. "Violencia y guerra", un tema que, debido a ciertas perspectivas liberales y progresistas, ha sido olvidado con frecuencia por los sociólogos. Pero cuando los sueños de paz duradera no se han cumplido, se deben señalar los nuevos peligros y las dificultades de movilizar una oposición organizada contra la violencia. "El desarrollo sostenible" ha confirmado ser un punto de referencia normativo y analítico importante para estudiar los problemas ecológicos, pero en sentido amplio: las causas y consecuencias del cambio climático, el escándalo del hambre en el mundo, la escasez, presente y futura, de la energía y del agua: todos estos problemas demandan análisis sociológicos. Con las sesiones sobre "mundos de diferencia" llamamos la atención sobre el hecho de que la idea convencional de una creciente modernidad homogénea ha perdido mucha verosimilitud. Tenemos que preguntarnos cuál es el papel de las tradiciones antiguas de las civilizaciones para las "modernidades múltiples" y cómo el ascenso de Asia desafía las ideas fundamentales de las tradiciones intelectuales eurocéntricas o americanocéntricas. "Acción e imaginación" señala un tipo de desafío totalmente diferente. Los nuevos descubrimientos en biología y la aparición del campo transdisciplinario de "estudios culturales" nos obligan a repensar nuestras categorías básicas. La sociología también tiene que responder a cambios fundamentales en la vida cotidiana, tales como la creciente importancia de la imagen o comunicación y la realidad vivida en el mundo virtual. "Religión y poder" es un tema que atrae cada vez más interés a causa del creciente escepticismo de que la tesis de secularización pueda ser defendida. La religión ya no se percibe como un mero vestigio del pasado pre-moderno. En consecuencia esto lleva al creciente interés por los movimientos sociales inspirados en la religión, por la dinámica de la experiencia religiosa y su articulación, y por las distintas maneras en las que la religión ha sido una vez más instrumentalizada para fines políticos.

No solo por el hecho de que nuestro congreso se celebre en Escandinavia sino por razones académicas y políticas de peso hemos decidido prestar mucha atención a las singularidades de las sociedades nórdicas, particularmente en lo que se refiere al estado del bienestar y a los desafíos globales que tienen que afrontar.

Otro desafío ha llegado a ser más y más fuerte en la preparación de nuestro congreso: la crisis de los mercados financieros, las consecuencias que esta crisis ha tenido y podrá tener para los procesos económicos, sociales, políticos y culturales. En múltiples contextos esto será el tema principal de nuestros debates.

La vitalidad de la comunidad científica internacional de sociólogos no es solamente visible en las contribuciones a las sesiones plenarias sobre los temas principales sino y, sobretodo, en la vida de nuestros Comités de Investigación. Sus sesiones demuestran la amplitud y profundidad del análisis sociológico actual.

Esperemos que nuestro Congreso en la preciosa ciudad sueca de Gotemburgo resulte una experiencia apasionante para todos los participantes y observadores. Esto convertiría los esfuerzos del Comité del Programa, al cual represento, en un éxito.

Hans Joas
Vicepresidente de la AIS para el Programa del Congreso

Welcome from the Presidents of the Swedish Sociological Association and of the Local Organising Committee

The Swedish Sociological Association and the Local Organising Committee are happy to welcome you to the 17th World Congress of the International Sociological Association. Swedish sociology is proud to have been trusted to organise the ISA conference for a second time. It is our ambition and hope that you will enjoy the stay, profit from taking part in intellectual debates, and make new contacts while being in Gothenburg.

A big congress may evoke ideas of formal meetings, and one can easily feel lonely in the crowd. However, it is in the face to face discussions in the different sessions with presentations, discussion and exchanges of ideas that constitute the core of the World Congress in Sociology. The program, as the Chair of the Programme Committee Hans Joas writes, offers a smorgasbord of new and challenging sociological themes, so we are certain that there is something for all of you.

There is plenty to do scientifically during the week. We nonetheless hope that you also take some time to look closer at the city of Gothenburg and its surroundings. The city is indeed on the move. It represents in many ways the transformation of the Scandinavian welfare state, an expanding industrial city, the decline of the industrial era, and the contemporary orientation to design, innovation, and knowledge. It is a harbour city, with a history of trade and emigration, but which today sees immigrants from more or less troubled regions of the world. To learn more about the city scholars at the department of Sociology at Gothenburg University have produced a book (Re)searching Gothenburg inspired by our Durban colleagues at the previous Congress. The book can be purchased during the conference at the Convention Centre.

There are many sociologists coming from Gothenburg and the rest of Sweden, but also from the other Nordic countries. We are extremely pleased to have received financial support by our fellows from the Nordic Sociological Association. We are also grateful for financial support from the Swedish Research Councils - Riksbankens Jubileumsfond, The Swedish Research Council and the Swedish Council for Working life and Social Research, Gothenburg University has sponsored the venues in the university buildings. Finally we also want to express our gratitude to the support from the Department of Sociology, the members of the Local Committee and all colleagues who have volunteered to assist you during the conference.

Sociologists from at least one hundred countries spread among the continents have registered for this Congress. We are convinced that Swedish sociologists and other Nordic sociology colleagues will be inspired by meeting international colleagues. Nordic sociology has ever since its origin a reputation for studies of the Nordic Welfare State, and a corresponding interest in various aspects of social equality and inequality. There is a special session on Nordic sociology, "Nordic welfare facing global challenges" running on Thursday afternoons with themes on gender equality, health, migration and financial crisis. Today, sociology in Nordic countries is much more than this, and it is characterized by increased plurality. Issues related to religion, power, globalization, the problem of sustainability are urgent problems for all of us. Sociology has an important role to play in addressing these issues and make us understand the world better, and can there be a better place than a International Sociology Congress to show how this can be done?

Patrik Aspers
President of the Swedish Sociological Association

Ulla Björnberg
President of the Local Organising Committee

Bienvenue des Présidents de l'Association Suédoise de Sociologie et du Comité Organisateur Local L'Association Suédoise de Sociologie et le Comité Organisateur Local vous souhaite la bienvenue au XVII^e Congrès Mondial de Sociologie de l'Association Internationale de Sociologie. Pour la sociologie suédoise, c'est un honneur qu'on lui ait fait confiance pour organiser cette conférence pour la seconde fois. Nous espérons que vous profiterez de votre séjour, que vous tirerez profit de la participation aux débats et que vous ferez de nouveaux contacts pendant que vous serez à Göteborg.

Un grand congrès peut évoquer des idées de réunions sérieuses, et il est facile de se sentir seul parmi la multitude. Cependant, le noyau du Congrès Mondial de Sociologie est constitué du débat et de l'échange des idées, qui ont lieu au cours des discussions face à face lors des différentes sessions avec présentations. Le programme, comme l'écrit le Président du Comité du Programme Hans Joas, offre une palette de nouveaux thèmes de sociologie pleins d'enjeux, ce qui nous assure qu'il y ait quelque chose pour vous tous.

Du point de vue scientifique, il y a beaucoup à faire pendant cette semaine. Nous espérons, cependant, que vous pourrez consacrer du temps à voir de plus près la ville de Göteborg et ses environs. La ville est en effet en mouvement. Elle symbolise par de nombreux aspects la transformation de l'état providence scandinave, le développement d'une ville industrielle, le déclin de l'ère industrielle, et l'orientation actuelle vers le design, l'innovation et la connaissance. Il s'agit d'une ville portuaire, ayant une histoire de commerce et d'émigration, mais qui de nos jours assiste à l'arrivée d'immigrés de régions plus ou moins conflictuelles du monde. Pour mieux connaître la ville, les membres du Département de Sociologie de l'Université de Göteborg, ont édité un livre « (Re) searching Gothenburg », inspiré de celui de nos collègues du Congrès précédent de Durban. Le livre pourra s'acheter pendant le Congrès au Centre des Congrès.

De nombreux sociologues de Göteborg et du reste de la Suède, ainsi que d'autres pays nordiques, participeront au congrès. Nous sommes très reconnaissants de l'appui économique reçu de l'Association Sociologique Nordique. Nous remercions également l'aide financière des Conseils de Recherche de Suède : Riksbankens Jubileumsfond, Conseil de la Recherche Suédois et Conseil Suédois pour la Vie Active et la Recherche Sociale. Enfin, nous aimerions exprimer notre gratitude pour le soutien reçu du Département de Sociologie, des membres du Comité Local ainsi que tous les collègues qui volontairement aideront durant le Congrès.

Plus d'une centaine de pays de plusieurs continents se sont inscrits au Congrès. Nous sommes convaincus que cette réunion internationale inspirera les sociologues de Suède et d'autres pays nordiques. La sociologie nordique jouit depuis ses origines d'une grande réputation due à ses études sur l'état providence nordique, et son intérêt pour divers aspects de l'égalité et des inégalités sociales. Le jeudi après-midi aura lieu une session spéciale sur la sociologie nordique "Nordic welfare facing global challenges", avec des sujets tels que l'égalité entre hommes et femmes, la santé, l'émigration et la crise financière. De nos jours, la sociologie des pays nordiques va au-delà de ces questions, et se caractérise par une pluralité croissante. Des sujets liés à la religion, au pouvoir, à la globalisation et au développement durable sont des problèmes urgents pour nous tous. La sociologie a un rôle important à jouer dans la discussion de ces thèmes et afin d'approfondir notre compréhension du monde. Y a-t-il un meilleur endroit que le Congrès Mondial de Sociologie de l' AIS pour montrer comment cela peut être fait ?

Patrik Aspers
Président de l'Association Suède de Sociologie

Ulla Björnberg
Présidente du Comité Organisateur Local

Bienvenida de los Presidentes de la Asociación Sueca de Sociología y del Comité Local Organizador

La Asociación Sueca de Sociología y el Comité Local Organizador les da la bienvenida al XVII Congreso Mundial de Sociología de la Asociación Internacional de Sociología. Para la sociología sueca es un orgullo que se haya confiado en ella para organizar esta conferencia por segunda vez. Nuestro deseo es que disfrute de su estancia, que saque provecho de la participación en los debates y que haga nuevos contactos mientras esté en Gotemburgo.

Un congreso grande puede sugerir ideas de reuniones serias, y uno puede fácilmente sentirse solo entre la multitud. Sin embargo, el núcleo del Congreso Mundial de Sociología lo constituyen el debate y el intercambio de ideas, que se dan en las discusiones cara a cara en las distintas sesiones con presentaciones. El programa, como escribe el Presidente del Comité del Programa Hans Joas, ofrece un smorgasbord de nuevos y desafiantes temas de sociología, por lo que seguro que habrá algo para todos.

Desde un punto de vista científico hay mucho que hacer en esta semana. Esperamos, sin embargo, que puedan dedicar algo de tiempo a ver de cerca la ciudad de Gotemburgo y sus alrededores. La ciudad está realmente en movimiento. Representa en muchos aspectos la transformación del estado del bienestar escandinavo, la expansión de una ciudad industrial, el declive de la era industrial, y la orientación actual hacia el diseño, la innovación, y el conocimiento. Es una ciudad portuaria, con una historia de comercio y emigración, pero que hoy tiene inmigrantes que provienen de regiones más o menos conflictivas del mundo. Para conocer mejor la ciudad los miembros del Departamento de Sociología de la Universidad de Gotemburgo han editado un libro '(Re)searching Gothenburg' inspirado en el de nuestros colegas del anterior Congreso en Durban. El libro se puede comprar durante el Congreso en el Centro de Congresos.

En el congreso participarán muchos sociólogos de Gotemburgo y del resto de Suecia, y también de otros países nórdicos. Estamos muy agradecidos por el apoyo económico recibido de la Asociación Sociológica Nórdica. También agradecemos la ayuda financiera de los Consejos de Investigación de Suecia: Riksbankens Jubileumsfond, Consejo de Investigación Sueco y el Consejo Sueco para la Vida Laboral e Investigación Social. La Universidad de Gotemburgo ha ofrecido como sedes del Congreso los edificios universitarios. Finalmente nos gustaría expresar nuestra gratitud por el apoyo del Departamento de Sociología, de los miembros del

Comité Local y a todos los colegas que voluntariamente ayudarán durante el Congreso.

Se han inscrito al Congreso sociólogos de más de un centenar de países de varios continentes. Estamos convencidos de que esta reunión internacional inspirará a los sociólogos suecos y de otros países nórdicos. La sociología nórdica disfruta desde su origen de una gran reputación por sus estudios sobre el estado del bienestar nórdico, y su interés por varios aspectos de la igualdad y desigualdad social. El jueves por la tarde hay una sesión especial sobre sociología nórdica, "Nordic welfare facing global challenges", con asuntos como igualdad de género, salud, emigración y crisis financiera. Hoy día la sociología en los países nórdicos es mucho más que esto, y se caracteriza por una pluralidad creciente. Temas relacionados con la religión, el poder, la globalización, y el desarrollo sostenible son problemas urgentes para todos nosotros. La sociología tiene un papel importante que jugar en la discusión de estos temas y para profundizar nuestra comprensión del mundo, ¿Hay un lugar mejor que el Congreso Mundial de Sociología de la AIS para mostrar cómo se puede hacer?

General Information

Brief history about Gothenburg (Göteborg)

Trade, shipping and international contacts have characterised Gothenburg ever since it was grounded in 1621. In 1731, the Swedish East India Company began trading with the east. In the 19th century, Gothenburg became industrialised, largely due to the arrival of Scottish and English businessmen. Modern-day Gothenburg with its wide boulevards, parks and stone buildings was built towards the end of the 19th century. The shipyards grew large in the 20th century, but declined at the end of the 1970's and are now transformed into residential areas and offices for people to enjoy the harbour atmosphere.

Climate and weather

The climate in Gothenburg is varied, and each season brings its own charm! In the summer, June–August, the temperature is often around 20–25 degrees during the day. The days are long (around 18 hours in July) and the nights are light. The sea is generally warm enough to swim in from July. Fore weather forecasts please visit www.smhi.se

Currency

The Swedish currency is the krona. There are a 100 öre in 1 krona (1 Swedish Krona = 100 öre).

For update on exchange rates please visit www.oanda.com

Credit cards are accepted almost everywhere. You can use the credit card on buses, trams, taxis, restaurants and shopping. The chip and pin is the common method.

Cash machines (ATM) are common and accept major credit and debit cards. They can be found in the main shopping centres, the airport and in the main streets such as Kungsporsavenyn.

If you bought an item in Sweden worth more than 200 SEK, and you are flying out of the EU, you are eligible to a VAT refund. Present the goods (unused and with the price tags attached), your passport and ticket/boarding pass, Global Refund receipt and the shop receipt to the customs at the airport. (www.globalrefund.com)

Electricity

Sweden uses 220 V AC, 50Hz. Round European style two-pin plugs are used. Laptops from US using only 110 V will need a transformer.

Discussion and exchange of experiences: "Being a female junior sociologist"

(convenor: M. Amacker, contact: michele.amacker@unifr.ch):

Tuesday, 13.7.2010, 10.45-12.45, Room R21 at the Exhibition Centre

This activity invites conference participants who feel concerned about the realities and particular challenges of being a female junior sociologist to an open round table of discussion and exchange of experiences. Possible topics might include career and publication strategies for women in academia, family and career planning as well as dealing with discrimination and sexual harassment within academia.

How to review journal articles (convenor: Dmitry Khodyakov, contact: dkhodyakov@gmail.com)

Tuesday, 13.7.2010, 15.30-17.30, Room R21 at the Exhibition Centre

This discussion session will focus on how to review articles for academic journals. Devorah Kalekin-Fishman, editor of International Sociology Review of Books as well as member of the editorial boards of Current Sociology, European Journal for Intercultural Education, Mediterranean Journal of Educational Studies, will be a senior discussant in the session.

The session will discuss the following themes:

- a. How to write a review that is helpful to the author.
- b. How to write a polite negative review.
- c. How to write confidential comments to the journal editor.

Junior researchers between institutional constraints, academic dependencies and uncertain futures - discussion and exchange of experience (convenor: Pia Laborgne, contact: p.laborgne@iwar.tu-darmstadt.de)

Tuesday, 13.7.2010, 20.00-22.00, Room R21 at the Exhibition Centre

This session addresses the situation of junior researchers in different contexts in an open discussion around the phase of PhD and the entry into research as a profession. Questions to be discussed can include the development of own ideas and approaches in the context of academic dependencies (like on the PhD supervisor or on funding agencies), pressures and constraints arising out of the institutional setting (like publishing strategies or concerning diverging time logics) and reflections upon the own professional future (like perspectives in the research sector, "strategic" or interest based choice of topics and approaches). Where are parallels in different national contexts? Where are differences? What are different individual perspectives and ways of dealing with these difficulties?

Ideas for specific topics as well as short inputs from different countries are very welcome.

The social production of space: inquiries on the relation between physical location and social position. (convenors: Bruno Monteiro, Joao Queiros and Morten Kyed; contact: bmonteiro@fpce.up.pt)

Wednesday, 14.7.2010, 10.45-12.45, Room R21 at the Exhibition Centre

This session invites presentations that address the ways by which is equated the relationship between physical space (socially appropriated) and the social space (theoretically reconstituted), that is, the often unquestioned link between locality and positionality. Through experience sharing it is possible to enact, in a vividly albeit temporary occasion, a "collective intellectual" that cut across national boundaries or theoretical traditions.

Facing a scientific multi-versalism - Approaches to non hegemonic international knowledge accumulations in the social sciences and humanities (convenor: Michael Kuhn, contact: michaelkuhn@knowwhy.net)

Wednesday, 14.7.2010, 20.00-22.00, Room R21 at the Exhibition Centre

The session invites colleagues who have an interest in non-hegemonic perspectives in international collaborations in the social sciences and humanities. We would like to discuss networks and connections between individuals, groups and projects on new international bottom up collaboration approaches and on possibilities of constructing a scientific multi-versalism, as it is phrased by the "World SSH Net", a newly established global social network.

Conflicting demands in contemporary societies: smart technologies between privacy protection and sustainability (convenor: Michael Eggert, contact: eggert@eifer.org)

Thursday, 15.7.2010, 10.45-12.45, Room R21 at the Exhibition Centre

The development of more sustainable lifestyles is a crucial challenge for contemporary societies. So-called "smart" technologies can play an important role in creating consumption patterns which are more environmentally sound e.g. by gathering information about individual habits and behaviour in order to provide individually tailored feed-back. But this leads directly to another problem, namely the question of privacy—who collects which data and how can and will they be used?

After a short introduction to the topic by means of the case of smart power metering—a prime example for this problem area—the activity invites contributions dealing with the tension between ecological sustainability and civic freedoms and aims at offering a forum for an open discussion settled in the realm of technological development and its consequences for the relationship between public goods and the individual's autonomy of decision.
