RC44 - Research Committee on Labour Movements (2023-2027)
e-Newsletter January 2024

Message from RC44 Vice-President for Communications:

Welcome to RC44's monthly newsletters for 2024! 😊. As we begin the year, please note the following reminders:

(1) We have made some additions in our approach to social media. As well as our existing presence on Twitter/X and Facebook, we now have a LinkedIn page and a presence on Blue Sky Social (our handle is @labourrc44@bsky.social). Please note that the latter is an invite-only platform. (You need an invite code to set up an account. I have some if you want to join, so please contact me if you want one!) For those on these sites, please follow and promote us! (More information about our new website will be provided very soon.)

(2) A reminder that you are strongly encouraged to invite colleagues and comrades to join this e-list, including fellow researchers, academics and students of labour, work, employment and labour movements (and related fields), as well as trade unionists, NGO and movement activists, practitioners, etc. It's easy! You can invite them yourself (or, alternatively, tell them to sign up directly by signing up to googlegroups and searching for 'rc-44', or just email a request to tom.barnes@acu.edu.au).

(3) Items for the newsletter are encouraged and welcomed, e.g., new or forthcoming publications, upcoming events, calls for papers or abstracts, job posts, links to reports about labour movement activities, or other relevant news/announcements, etc.

Call for Papers: Special Issue

Work Organisation, Labour & Globalisation Special Issue on ‘New Worlds of Logistical Labour – spaces, places, technologies, workers.’

Deadline for submission of full papers: 1 March 2024.

This special issue aims to assemble papers located at the interface between studies of work, labour and the evolving field of critical logistics. It intends to address the core question: what exactly is new about ‘new’ work and labour in logistics? The special issue will be edited by Tom

Barnes (Australian Catholic University), Christopher O'Neill (Monash University, Australia) and Lauren Kelly (RMIT University, Australia). Questions about the special issue, including the suitability of potential papers, can be directed, in the first instance, to tom.barnes@acu.edu.au. Papers should be submitted to the editor: ursulahuws@analyticapublications.co.uk

The Sociological Review Call for Expressions of Interest for forthcoming Special Section on '45 Years of Manufacturing Consent.'

Deadline for expressions of interest: 1 April 2024. Applicants will be advised of outcomes in late April 2024. If accepted, applicants will have until 9 September 2024 to submit complete papers for peer review.

Focused on sociologist Michael Burawoy's 1979 book Manufacturing Consent: Changes in the labor process under monopoly capitalism. The aim of this forthcoming Special Section is to reassess and critically engage with this landmark work and its ongoing influence, more than four decades on. In revisiting this text, the editors are looking for papers that engage with themes of worker experiences and the labour process in the 21st century, and we particularly welcome contributions that address global power imbalances between the Global North and Global South.

Call for Papers

The section of Work, Organization and Economics (WOE) for Sociology Compass is now commissioning review articles for 2024 and will highly welcome contributions made by members/supporters of ISA RC44. Sociology Compass publishes peer-reviewed, clearly-written articles that summarize the state of a sub-field for both specialist and non-specialists. Please consider submitting a review article to discuss any specific research issues and/or general theme of labor movements which might be of interest to specialists as well as non-specialists. Most articles are invited submissions (subjected to two peer reviews). Authors should write succinct (around 5,000 words) and accessible overviews that make an argument. You can find Sociology Compass online at www.sociology-compass.com. In case you have any query on this call for papers, please feel free to contact the section editor, Prof Byoung-Hoon Lee (bhlee@cau.ac.kr).

Job posts

The Department of History at Brown University invites applicants for a two-year postdoctoral fellowship in Labor History, 1500–Present. Open to any geography, but with a preference for scholarship focused outside the US and Europe. Applicant should have investments in Labor History as a distinct subfield within the discipline. The PhD, from an institution other than Brown University, must be in hand by July 1, 2024; applicants must not have had more than five years of academic employment since the awarding of the PhD. The Fellow will teach one undergraduate course each year. The department places a high priority on research excellence, high-quality teaching, and a commitment to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic community. Interested candidates should speak to their ability to contribute to each of these three areas in a letter of application. Please also send a curriculum vitae, an article or chapter-length writing sample, and three letters of reference, via the application portal. Review of applications will begin February 15, 2024. To assure full consideration applicants should submit their materials by that date.

Postdoctoral Fellow in Sociology, Department of Applied Social Sciences, The Hong Kong Polytechnic University. This is a full-time post. Initially a two-year contract (with possibility of renewal), with an expected start date of 1 June 2024. Job description: The Department of Applied Social Sciences is recruiting a Postdoctoral Fellow in Sociology. The post is open in terms of theoretical and qualitative methodological approach within the fields of sociology of labor, work and employment, and political economy, with specialism in China or from a comparative perspective in Asia. Skills, knowledge and experience: 1. PhD in sociology, political science or a closely related discipline by the date of appointment; 2. Clear potential for excellent academic publications record. Please submit your research statement, CV and up to three writing samples (top-ranked peer-reviewed journal articles and/or forthcoming publications) to Dr Jenny Chan jenny.wl.chan@polyu.edu.hk by 31 March 2024. Applicants only need to submit the contact information of their three referees. Only shortlisted candidates will be notified.

News and announcements

Save the date! Workshop: ‘Amazon, logistics and labour: Technology, worker experiences and collective action in a growing sector – Bringing researchers and activists together.’ Saturday 6 April, 2024, University of Göttingen, Germany. Following the International Labour Process (ILPC) Conference, international and German logistics researchers will meet with local workers and union activists for a workshop. The aim is to discuss current developments in the warehousing and logistics sector and the perspective of organizing effectively to improve working conditions. The workshop has a special focus on Amazon, but it also considers developments in other sectors such as sea, freight or parcel logistics. It will comprise four different panels encompassing short inputs from logistics scholars, workers, and union staff. Attendance is free (subject to a call for voluntary contributions). To register your attendance, please email geba@socsci.aau.dk by 15 March, 2024. Please provide your name and affiliation. We will provide coffee and lunch, so also let us know if you have dietary requirements. Workshop supported by: Project TransLok SOFI Soziologische Forschungsinstitut Göttingen, Stiftung Menschenwürde und Arbeitswelt, Express – Zeitung für sozialistische Betriebs- und Gewerkschaftsarbeit

Please join or renew your RC44 membership now! The more paid-up members we have, the stronger our voice internationally and within the ISA.
